老卫在德国跟他的孙子, 看一看爷爷的照片。(他的孙女太小, 没有兴趣看深圳的照片)

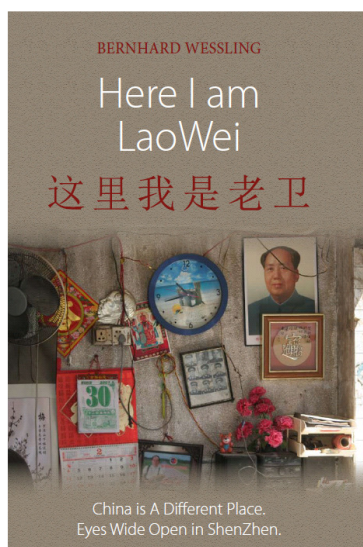

„LaoWei“ with his grandson in Germany, watching some of grandpa’s photos taken in Shenzhen. (His granddaughter is still too small to be interested in such things.)

卫斯林博士(六十岁)是德国化学家, 从2005年起在中国(亚洲)电子市场推广他的非常特殊的化学纳米技术, 以深圳为基点到各地出差。有时候他在深圳街上和在公园逛一逛拍照片。在这个展览中, 他从六年多期间拍摄出的上千张照片中选了五十张展出。他在深圳的足球社区很有名, 因为他是成功的守门员, 每个周六跟“天龙”队和星期日跟“老牛”队, 他的朋友叫他“老卫”。

他出版了关于他在中国的个人和商务经历的书“这里我是老卫”, 英

语和德语的, 非常有趣的书, 这里有卖。

Auch auf deutsch!

Dr. Wessling (60) is a German chemist who since 2005 is marketing his very special chemical nanotechnology in the Chinese (Asia) electronics markets, taking Shenzhen as his hub for business trips. Every once in a while he wanders around Shenzhen, taking photos in the streets, in the parks. In this exhibition, he shows 50 of his thousands of photos taken over 6 years. He is well-known in Shenzhen’s soccer society, he serves as a successful goalkeeper every Saturday in “TianLong” and every Sunday in “LaoNiu” (who call him “LaoWei”). He published a book about his personal and business experiences in China “Here I am LaoWei” in English and German (“Hier bin ich LaoWei”), very funny to read, on sale here.
